

Cauliflower

Memories of smelly school dinners all too much? Look again. One of the few vegetables that is in season in Britain almost all year round, the versatile cauliflower is having a comeback. Delicious roasted with spices like cumin and coriander and served with a good sprinkling of sea salt and a squeeze of lemon.